Creating greater value brings us closer to you

Dear Samsung Electronics Stakeholder:

In 2011, Samsung Electronics achieved record-breaking sales despite the worldwide recession and increased pressure from competitors. We realized sales revenue of KRW 165 trillion and operating profit of KRW 16 trillion and maintained a strong financial structure, with a liability ratio of 32.1% and capital adequacy ratio of 75.7%.

Robust performances across our business areas

Last year, we maintained strong synergy between our set and component business areas while also expanding market share with differentiated premium product lines in our core areas, including mobile phones, TVs and memory chips. Led by growth in the AP and sensor segments, we also saw good performances in our emerging business lines, such as the System LSI Business.

The stellar Samsung GALAXY S II sold more than 10 million units worldwide, helping us to achieve the No. 1 global market share for smartphones. In addition, we sustained the top share in the worldwide TV market for the sixth year in a row. In the Memory Business, we developed a 20-nano-class product and expanded our line of highly profitable products, such as DRAMs for mobile devices and servers, again securing our No. 1 market share position.

We expect to continue our dominance while maintaining robust growth and performance.

From cutting-edge hardware to strengthened software capability

Having achieved unmatched global competitiveness in hardware, we have been focusing on enhancing our software capabilities in user interface, user experience, design and brand awareness.

Those efforts are paying off. Samsung Electronics again won the German iF Design Awards and a total of seven IDEA 2011 awards from the Industrial Designers Society of America. We also ranked second on the list of top US patent assignees, registering a total of 4,894 patents in 2011.

Looking ahead in 2012, we expect to further enhance our software capabilities, develop additional competitive business models and offer a trendsetting range of content for business and consumer solutions and services by building distinctive platforms and ecosystems.

Enriching brand value with astute marketing

Around the world, the Samsung Electronics brand is gaining strength and value. By launching judicious and consistent marketing campaigns, particularly with sports promotions and social contributions, we have elevated the brand. Our reputation and growth was confirmed by the Interbrand Best 100 Global Brands 2011, which ranked Samsung Electronics 17th, with an estimated brand value of USD 23.4 billion.

We expect to add further value to the Samsung brand by launching market-specific innovative products that deliver new and exciting customer experiences. In addition, our sponsorships at the London 2012 Olympics will provide strong profile and brand power.

Well loved by customers and partners alike

The vitality of the Samsung Electronics brand and products comes from the continued trust and appreciation of our customers, from shared social values and our companywide ethical principles. We believe in "shared growth." We establish programs and comply with laws and ethical standards that will safeguard healthy markets. Guided by "right path" management, we are committed to making Samsung Electronics loved and respected by our customers and communities.

In 2012, Samsung Electronics will continue to bring greater value to our customers, communities and employees. Our ultimate goal is to build more prosperity and a brighter future for everyone.

Thank you.

VISUAL DISPLAY BUSINESS

TV that evolves for you and your family

By developing technological excellence and superior design, Samsung Electronics has earned the No. 1 global market share across all TV product lines every year since 2006, including flat-panel TVs, LCD TVs, smart TVs and 3D TVs. Last year we continued that blistering pace. In 2011, we achieved sales of 47.69 million TV units, a 5.7% increase over 2010, confirming our unparalleled market leadership. Customized and region-specific marketing and an expanded premium product lineup fueled our impressive sales and profit increases. In 2012, we again expect to lead the smart TV market with innovative features - such as Smart Interaction, featuring Voice Control, Motion Control and Face Recognition; Smart Content, a customized service for consumers and their families; and Smart Evolution, a future-proof feature that renews your TV every year.

We have also maintained the global No. 1 market share for five consecutive years. In 2012, we plan to expand our solutions business, which includes Large Format Display (LFD) and Video Wall Display. We will be introducing monitor product lines for professional use with high-definition, wide viewing angle PLS panels.

DIGITAL APPLIANCES BUSINESS

Premium smart appliances that care for the home

With a platform of premium smart home appliances, we are developing innovative products and advanced features that add immediate value to everyday life. Our smart appliances include air conditioners that can detect weather forecasts and then recommend efficient operating modes, as well as refrigerators that can shop online. We are bringing a higher level of user experience to daily tasks and households. Already recognized in the global market for the technological excellence of our refrigerators and washing machines, we continue to develop technology that makes our smart appliances easier to use, more energy efficient and increasingly eco-friendly. In addition, we are diversifying our high-value air conditioner system to expand our energy solutions business.

In 2012, we will consolidate the market for our premium products. In emerging markets, we will maintain a profitable balance of regional, innovative and standard products. Our overseas manufacturing bases and SCM will support on-time distribution of our regional premium products while we intensify development, testing and evaluation efforts to guarantee product reliability.

MOBILE COMMUNICATIONS BUSINESS

Smart devices, making a life extraordinary

Worldwide demand for mobile phones was a staggering 1.5 billion units in 2011. Samsung Electronics accounted for 330 million of those units, far exceeding our target. We realized impressive growth in smartphone sales as well. The bestselling GALAXY S II sold more than 20 million units since its launch in April 2011. The strength of the GALAXY brand further lifted sales for the mass-market GALAXY Ace and GALAXY mini.

In 2012, we anticipate rapid growth and intense competition in both the smartphone and tablet markets, with only a slight rise in worldwide demand for feature phones. We are reinforcing our market leadership and strengthening our smartphone lineup by launching the GALAXY S III, designed for humans and inspired by nature. We will increase our sales of smart mobile devices and boost our overall market leadership by releasing products that will lead in new categories, such as GALAXY Note and LTE products. Overall, Samsung is pursuing growth that balances the steadiness of advanced premium markets with the energy and potential of emerging markets.

IT SOLUTIONS BUSINESS

Innovation propels the high end

Despite the sluggish mobile PC market, we have sustained growth by focusing on must-have technological innovations and distinctive premium design. In the first half of 2011, we entered the premium PC market with the Notebook Series 9. In the latter half, we released more innovative products, including the upgraded Series 7 Chronos and the high-performance portable Slate PC, achieving sales increases of 28% compared to 2010. In 2012, we will launch Ultrabook and New Series 9 models as we move to dominate the premium slim and lightweight PC category.

In the printer sector, we are concentrating on the consumer market with a full line of eco-friendly and cost-effective mono-laser printers and multifunctional copiers. Our high-end printers are poised for greater growth in the corporate and small business markets. Looking ahead, we plan to develop a new line of A3-size color and business color printers that offer a wide choice of document and print management solutions.

"It's amazing how easy it become to use cutting-edge mobile technologies every day. With the next generation mobile networks in our lives, we are closing the gap between expert and amateur."

TELECOMMUNICATION SYSTEMS BUSINESS

Leading the next-generation mobile markets in the world

As a leader in the mobile broadband market, Samsung Electronics has also solidified its position as the next-generation mobile network systems trailblazer. Through product development and market expansion, we are driving standardization of the two major 4G technologies, Long-Term Evolution (LTE) and Mobile WiMAX. In 2010, Samsung deployed the first commercial LTE service network in the US. In 2011, we established the world's first commercial TD-LTE network to Saudi Arabia. That same year we built Korea's first commercial LTE network. As a result, we are leading markets in North America and Asia where 4G LTE demand is greatest. In addition, we provide optimized and customized network solutions to mobile carriers with a multi-standard base station that simultaneously provides telecommunication technologies, including GSM, WCDMA, CDMA and 4G services such as LTE and Mobile WiMAX.

In 2012, relying on the robust technological capabilities we gained from field experience, we will continue to pioneer new markets and lead the way to next-generation mobile network technologies and standards.

DIGITAL IMAGING BUSINESS

Ever-smarter digital cameras for a new era

Samsung Electronics continues to launch digital cameras that offer inventive user interfaces that make photo shooting and management easier and more convenient. We are developing specific features for both cameras and camcorders. In 2011, we developed innovative responses that will maximize our business performance in changing markets. We launched the world's first 20-megapixel compact system camera NX200 and expanded our product line of interchangeable-lens cameras, now upgraded with the i-Function 2.0. We also launched market-leading new products with smart capabilities, including the unique MV800 Mirror Pop camera with a rotating flip-out touch screen; the 16-megapixel high-resolution WB850F camera with a BSI CMOS sensor and Wi-Fi (DLNA) features; and the HMX-QF20 Wi-Fi camcorder with its popular switch-grip design.

MEMORY BUSINESS

World leader in high-performance eco-friendly memory chips

Every year for nearly two decades, from 1993 to 2011, Samsung Electronics has held the No. 1 market share in the global memory business. We maintain our leadership by developing a range of cutting-edge products and green solutions that support speedier and eco-friendly applications and technologies. We play a major role in the sustainable growth of the IT industry and we continue to pioneer new markets.

Alert to the industry's need to go green, since 2009 we have focused on growing our premium green memory chips for enterprise servers, high-performance computers and ultra-slim smartphones. Following our world-first mass production of the energy-saving 20-nanometer (nm) class 2Gb DDR3 DRAMs in 2011, we expect to sharpen our edge in 2012 by expanding our line of high-efficiency green memory products and solutions, including 4Gb DDR3 DRAM-based 64GB server modules and enterprise solid-state drives (SSDs).

As we further penetrate the rapidly growing mobile market, we are commercializing high-performance memory and storage products. Last year, that included the world's first 30nm-class 2GB LPDDR2 mobile memory and our 20nm-class 512GB SSD. In 2012, we will continue our efforts to grow and lead the market by providing differentiated low-power, high-performance solutions, such as 20nm-class mobile memory chips and 10nm-class NAND-flash-based SSDs, eMMCs and eMCPs.

a. 2GB Embedded Multi-Chip Package (eMCP) Our large-capacity eMCP is the world's fastest for ultra-slim mobile devices. b. SATA 6Gb/s 512GB SSD The large-capacity SSD for premium computers maximizes convenience for users.

SYSTEM LSI BUSINESS

Optimal solutions for advanced products

At Samsung Electronics, we develop and produce a wide selection of logic products that operate and control electronic applications. Responding to the expanding mobile electronics market, we are supplying integrated multifunctional low-power semiconductor solutions. We also stay close to customers for system-on-chips, image sensors and display IC solutions in order to develop products that truly add value and innovation. For mobile APs (Application Processor), a fast growing system-on-chip device, we launched the high-performance Exynos family, which features low-power requirements and supports optimal processing power for mobile devices. In CMOS image sensors (CIS), we are maintaining strong growth by supplying high-pixel products for mobile devices and expanding their application to digital still cameras, webcams and other digital devices.

In the foundry sector, our successful introduction of 32nm/28nm cutting-edge low-power high-k metal-gate (HKMG) process technology offers premium customer solutions. Looking forward, we are focusing on growing in the smart mobile market by developing new products with early-to-market availability. We are strengthening our continued technological competitiveness with aggressive investments in research and development.

LED BUSINESS

Shining the light on eco-efficiency

As a next-generation environmental-friendly light source, LED applications are fueling a revolution in fields as diverse as ordinary household electric lights, backlit displays and automotive lighting. As the LED market ramps up, demand is growing for high-efficiency products that also save energy. We are quickly responding by enhancing our technological competitiveness and leadership.

Using world-class technology and production knowhow we gained over the past three decades in the semiconductor industry, we are producing high-performance LED components and supplying a wide range of lighting solutions that include display modules and lighting engines. We first developed and then built capacity to produce the phosphor that is a core material for LED light sources. Further, we have established an independent business that’s a joint venture with Sumitomo Chemical for the stable supply and procurement of sapphire wafers. Throughout the coming year, we will bolster our leadership in the light source industry and deepen customer trust with our competitive and highly satisfying products in the rapidly-growing LED lighting market.

We have long demonstrated our ability to predict change and prepare for tomorrow. By combining consummate creativity with impeccable execution, we are producing leading-edge products that deliver on every promise we make to customers.

Scanning the horizon, we see an industry with change in the wind. Increasingly, the electronics industry is restructuring to focus on software innovation and creative thinking. We are meeting that challenge by creating differentiated new value beyond our proprietary competitive areas. As always, Samsung Electronics will lead transformation in the industry. As ever, we will harness the winds of change to propel us forward. We embrace the future with pride, knowing we will continue to grow and thrive.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

2.1 Basis of Presentation

The Company first adopted the International Financial Reporting Standards as adopted by the Republic of Korea ("Korean IFRS") from January 1, 2010. International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) have been adopted by the Korean Accounting Standards Board as Korean IFRS based on standards, amendments and interpretations published by the International Accounting Standards Board.

The principal accounting policies applied in the preparation of these consolidated financial statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all the years presented, unless otherwise stated.

New standards, amendments and interpretations issued but not effective for the financial year beginning January 1, 2011 and not early adopted are set out below :

K-IFRS 1012, 'Deferred Tax : Recovery of Underlying Assets'

The amendment addresses the measurement of deferred tax liabilities and deferred tax assets to reflect the tax consequences that would follow from the manner in which the entity expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities. The amendments to the standard are mandatory for the first time for the financial year beginning January 1, 2012. The Company expects the impact of this amendment on the consolidated financial statements to be immaterial.

K-IFRS 1107, 'Disclosures—Transfers of Financial Assets'

The amendments will help users of financial statements evaluate the risk exposures relating to transfers of financial assets and the effect of those risks on an entity's financial position and will promote transparency in the reporting of transfer transactions, particularly those that involve securitization of financial assets. The amendments to the standard are mandatory for the first time for the financial year beginning January 1, 2012. The Company expects the impact of this amendment on the consolidated financial statements to be immaterial.

K-IFRS 1113, 'Fair value measurement'

The standard aims to improve consistency and reduce complexity by providing a precise definition of fair value and a single source of fair value measurement and disclosure requirements for use across IFRSs. The requirements, which are largely aligned between IFRSs and US GAAP, do not extend the use of fair value accounting but provide guidance on how it should be applied where its use is already required or permitted by other standards within IFRSs or US GAAP. The Company is yet to assess K-IFRS 1113's full impact and intends to adopt K-IFRS 1113 no later than the accounting period beginning January 1, 2013.

K-IFRS 1019, 'Employee benefits'

The main impacts on the Company will be that the corridor approach will no longer be applied and instead all actuarial gains and losses will be recognized in OCI as they occur; all past service costs will be immediately recognized, and interest cost and expected return on plan assets will be replaced with a net interest amount calculated by applying the discount rate to the net defined benefit liability (asset). The Company is still in the process of assessing the impact of the amendment on the consolidated financial statements.

2.2 Consolidation

The Company prepares annual consolidated financial statements in accordance with Korean IFRS 1027, Consolidated and Separate Financial Statements.

A\) Subsidiaries

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of SEC and its controlled subsidiaries. Control over a subsidiary is presumed to exist when the Company has the power to govern the financial and operating policies of an entity to obtain benefits from its activities generally accompanying a shareholding of more than one half of the voting rights. The existence and effects of potential voting rights that are exercisable or convertible at the end of the reporting period are considered in determining whether the Company controls another entity. Subsidiaries are fully consolidated from the date when control is transferred to the Company and de-consolidated from the date which control ceases to exist.

The purchase method of accounting is used to account for the acquisition of subsidiaries by the Company. The cost of an acquisition is measured at the fair value of the assets given, equity instruments issued and liabilities incurred or assumed at the date of exchange. Identifiable assets acquired and liabilities and contingent liabilities assumed in a business combination are measured initially at their fair values at the acquisition date, irrespective of the extent of any non-controlling interest. The excess of the cost of acquisition over the fair value of the Company's share of the identifiable net assets acquired is recorded as goodwill. If the cost of acquisition is less than the fair value of the net assets of the subsidiary acquired, the difference is recognized directly in the statement of income. For each business combination, the Company shall measure any non-controlling interest in the acquiree at the non-controlling interest's proportionate share of the acquiree's identifiable net assets.

In a business combination achieved in stages, the acquisition date fair value of the acquirer's previously held equity interest in the acquiree is remeasured to fair value at the acquisition date through profit or loss.

Transactions with non-controlling interests that do not result in loss of control are accounted for as equity transactions – that is, as transactions with the owners in their capacity as owners. The difference between fair value of any consideration paid and the relevant share acquired of the carrying value of net assets of the subsidiary is recorded in equity. Gains or losses on disposals to non-controlling interests are also recorded in equity.

All inter-company transactions and balances are eliminated as part of the consolidation process. Inter-company transactions, balances, income and expenses on inter-company transactions are eliminated. Unrealized losses are eliminated upon assessing the impairment of the transferred assets.

When the Company ceases to have control any retained interest in the entity is re-measured to its fair value at the date when control is lost, with the change in carrying amount recognized in profit or loss. The fair value is the initial carrying amount for the purposes of subsequently accounting for the retained interest as an associate, joint venture or financial asset. In addition, any amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income in respect of that entity are accounted for as if the company had directly disposed of the related assets or liabilities. This may mean that amounts previously recognized in other comprehensive income are reclassified to profit or loss.

B) Non-controlling interests

Profit or loss and each component of other comprehensive income are attributed to the owners of the parent and to the non-controlling interests. Total comprehensive income is attributed to the owners of the parent and to the non-controlling interests even if this results in the non-controlling interests having a deficit balance. And changes in a parent's ownership interest in a subsidiary that do not result in a loss of control are accounted for as equity transactions (i.e. transactions among owners in their capacity as owners).

C) Associated companies and joint ventures

Investments in companies in which the Company does not have the ability to directly or indirectly control the financial and operating decisions, but does possess the ability to exercise significant influence, are accounted for using the equity method. Generally, it is presumed that if at least 20% of the voting stock and potential voting rights is owned, significant influence exists. The Company's investment in associates includes goodwill identified on acquisition, net of any accumulated impairment loss. Investments in companies in which the Company has joint control are also accounted for using the equity method.

The company's share of post-acquisition profit or loss is recognized in the income statement, and its share of post acquisition movements in other comprehensive income is recognized in other comprehensive income with a corresponding adjustment to the carrying amount of the investment. When the Company's share of losses in an associate equals or exceeds its interest in the associate, including any other unsecured receivables, the Company does not recognize further losses, unless it has incurred obligations or made payments on behalf of the associate or joint venture.

Unrealized gains and loss on transactions between the Company and its associates are eliminated to the extent of the parent company's interest in the associates and joint ventures. Unrealized losses are also eliminated unless the transaction provides evidence of an impairment of the asset transferred. Accounting policies of associates have been changed where necessary to ensure consistency with the policies adopted by the Company.

2.3 Foreign Currency Translation

A) Functional and presentation currency

Items included in the financial statements of each of the Company's entities are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which an entity operates ("the functional currency"). The consolidated financial statements are presented in Korean Won, which is the SEC's functional and presentation currency.

B) Transactions and balances

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions or valuation where items are remeasured. Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions and from the translation at the exchange rate at the end of the reporting period of monetary assets denominated in foreign currencies are recognized in the statement of income, except when deferred in other comprehensive income as qualifying cash flow hedges and qualifying net investment hedges.

Changes in the fair value of monetary securities denominated in foreign currency classified as available-for-sale financial assets are analyzed between translation differences resulting from changes in the amortized cost of the security and other changes in the carrying amount of the security. Translation differences related to changes in amortized cost are recognized in profit or loss, and other changes in carrying amount are recognized in other comprehensive income.

Translation differences on non-monetary financial assets such as equities held at fair value through profit or loss are recognized in profit or loss as part of the fair value gain or loss. Translation differences on non-monetary financial assets such as equities classified as available-for-sale are included in other comprehensive income.

C) Translation of financial statements of foreign subsidiaries

The results and financial position of all the foreign entities that have a functional currency different from the presentation currency of the Company are translated into the presentation currency as follows :

Assets and liabilities for each statement of financial position presented are translated at the closing rate at the end of the reporting date.

Income and expenses for each statement of income are translated at average exchange rates, unless this average is not a reasonable approximation of the cumulative effect of the rates prevailing on the transaction dates, in which case income and expenses are translated at the rate on the dates of the transactions; and all resulting exchange differences are recognized in other comprehensive income.

On consolidation, exchange differences arising from the translation of the net investment in foreign operations are recognized in other comprehensive income. When a foreign operation is partially disposed of or sold, the exchange differences that were recorded in equity are reclassified in the statement of income during the period when the gain or loss is recognized in profit or loss.

2.4 Cash Flow Statements

Cash flow statements are prepared using the indirect method. Foreign currency cash flows have been translated into Korean Won using the average rates of exchange for the period under consideration.

2.5 Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid investments with less than three months maturity from the date of acquisition to be cash equivalents. Bank overdrafts are considered as short-term borrowings in the statement of financial position and treated as financing activities in the cash flow statements, unless the overdraft is repayable on demand and used for cash management purposes only, in which case the overdraft is treated as cash and cash equivalents in the cash flow statement.

2.6 Financial Assets

A) Classification

The Company classifies its financial assets in the following categories : at fair value through profit or loss, loans and receivables, available-for-sale, and held-to-maturity investments. The classification depends on the terms of the instruments and purpose for which the financial assets were acquired. Management determines the classification of its financial assets at initial recognition.

(1) Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are financial assets held for trading. A financial asset is classified in this category if acquired principally for the purpose of selling in the short-term. Derivatives are also categorised as held for trading unless they are designated as hedges. Assets in this category are classified as current assets.

(2) Loans and receivables

Loans and receivables are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market. They are included in current assets, except for those with maturities greater than 12 months after the end of the reporting period; such loans and receivables are classified as non-current assets.

(3) Available-for-sale financial assets

Available-for-sale financial assets are non derivatives that are either designated in this category or not classified in any of the other categories. They are included in non-current assets unless an investment matures or management intends to dispose of it within 12 months of the end of the reporting period.

(4) Held-to-maturity investments

Held-to-maturity investments are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturity that an entity has the positive intention and ability to hold to maturity. Held-to-maturity financial assets are included in non-current assets, except for those with maturities less than 12 months from the end of the reporting period, which are classified as current assets.

B) Recognition and measurement

Regular purchases and sales of financial assets are recognized on the trade date – the date on which the Company commits to purchase or sell the asset. Investments are initially recognized at fair value plus transaction costs for all financial assets not carried at fair value through profit or loss. Financial assets carried at fair value through profit or loss are initially recognized at fair value, and transaction costs are expensed in the statement of income. Financial assets are derecognized when the rights to receive cash flows from the investments have expired or have been transferred and the Company has transferred substantially all risks and rewards of ownership. Available-for-sale financial assets and financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are subsequently carried at fair value. Loans and receivables and held-to-maturity investments are subsequently carried at amortized cost using the effective interest method.

Gains or losses arising from changes in the fair value of the financial assets at fair value through profit or loss category are presented in the statement of income in the period in which they arise. Dividend income from financial assets at fair value through profit or loss is recognized in the statement of income when the Company's right to receive payments is established.

Equity instruments of which the fair value cannot be measured reliably are recognized as cost. Changes in the fair value of monetary securities denominated in a foreign currency and classified as available-for-sale are analyzed between translation differences resulting from changes in amortized cost of the security and other changes in the carrying amount of the security. The translation differences on monetary securities are recognized in profit or loss; translation differences on non-monetary securities are recognized in other comprehensive income. Changes in the fair value of monetary and non-monetary securities classified as available-for-sale are recognized in other comprehensive income.

When securities classified as available-for-sale are sold or impaired, the accumulated fair value adjustments previously recognized in equity are transferred to the statement of income. Interest on available-for-sale financial assets calculated using the effective interest method is recognized in the statement of income as part of finance income. Dividends on available-for sale equity instruments are recognized in the statement of income as part of other operating income when the Company's right to receive payments is established.

C) Offsetting financial instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the statement of financial position when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognized amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, or realize the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

D) Impairment of financial assets

(1) Assets carried at amortized cost

The Company assesses at the end of each reporting period whether there is objective evidence that a financial asset or group of financial assets is impaired. A financial asset or a group of financial assets is impaired and impairment loss is incurred only if there is objective evidence of impairment as a result of one or more events that occurred after the initial recognition of the asset (a 'loss event') and that loss event (or events) has an impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset or group of financial assets that can be reliably estimated.

The amount of the loss is measured as the difference between the asset's carrying amount and the present value of estimated future cash flows (excluding future credit losses that have not been incurred) discounted at the financial asset's original effective interest rate. The carrying amount of the asset is reduced and the amount of the loss is recognized in the consolidated statement of income. As a practical expedient, the Company may measure impairment on the basis of an instrument's fair value using an observable market price.

If, in a subsequent period, the amount of the impairment loss decreases and the decrease can be related objectively to an event occurring after the impairment was recognized (such as an improvement in the debtor's credit rating), the reversal of the previously recognized impairment loss is recognized in the consolidated statement of income.

(2) Assets classified as available-for-sale

The Company assesses at the end of each reporting period whether there is objective evidence that a financial asset or a group of financial assets is impaired. In the case of equity investments classified as available-for-sale, a significant or prolonged decline in the fair value of the security below its cost is also evidence that the assets are impaired. If any such evidence exists for available-for-sale financial assets, the cumulative loss – measured as the difference between the acquisition cost and the current fair value, less any impairment loss on that financial asset previously recognized in profit or loss – is removed from equity and recognized in the consolidated statement of income. Impairment losses on equity instruments recognized in the consolidated statement of income are not reversed through the consolidated statement of income. If, in a subsequent period, the fair value of a debt instrument classified as available-for-sale increases and the increase can be objectively related to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognized in profit or loss, the impairment loss is reversed through the consolidated statement of income.

E) Derecognition of financial assets

Financial assets are derecognised when the rights to receive cash flows from the investments have expired or have been transferred and the company has transferred substantially all risks and rewards of ownership (if substantially not all risks and rewards of ownership have not been transferred, the Company should assess its control to ensure whether the derecognition criteria have not been met due to its continuing involvement with the investments).

Since the Company retains substantially all risks and rewards associated with the receivables in factoring arrangements with recourse. Financial liabilities that arise when a transfer of such receivables does not qualify for derecognition. Such liabilities are classified as mortgage payables in the consolidated balance sheet.

2.7 Trade Receivables

Trade receivables are amounts due from customers for merchandise sold or services performed in the ordinary course of business. If collection is expected in one year or less (or in the normal operating cycle of the Company if longer), they are classified as current assets. If not, they are presented as noncurrent assets. Non-current trade receivables are recognized initially at fair value and subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method, less provision for impairment.

2.8 Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost is determined using the average cost method, except for materials-in-transit. The cost of finished goods and work in progress comprises design costs, raw materials, direct labor, other direct costs and related production overheads (based on normal operating capacity). It excludes costs of idle plant, and abnormal waste. Net realizable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less applicable variable selling expenses.

Inventories are reduced for the estimated losses arising from excess, obsolescence, and the decline in value. This reduction is determined by estimating market value based on future customer demand. The losses on inventory obsolescence are recorded as a part of cost of sales.

2.9 Disposal Groups Classified as Held for Sale

When the carrying amount of certain assets and liabilities are expected to be recovered through sale and the sale of a disposable group is highly probable, such assets and liabilities are classified as held for sale and measured at the lower of its carrying amount and fair value.

2.10 Property, Plant and Equipment

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. Historical cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the acquisition of the items. Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount or recognized as a separate asset, as appropriate, only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably.

Capitalized interest is added to the cost of the underlying assets. The acquisition cost of property, plant and equipment acquired under a finance lease is determined at the lower of the present value of the minimum lease payments and the fair market value of the leased asset at the inception of the lease. Property, plant and equipment acquired under a finance lease, leasehold improvements are depreciated over the shorter of the lease term or useful life.

Land is not depreciated. Depreciation on other assets is calculated using the straight-line method to allocate their cost to their residual values over their estimated useful lives, as follows :

	Estimated useful lives
Buildings and auxiliary facilities	15, 30 years
Structures	15 years
Machinery and equipment	5 years
Tools and fixtures	5 years
Vehicles	5 years

The assets' residual values and useful lives are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate, at the end of each reporting period. An asset's carrying amount is written down immediately to its recoverable amount if the asset's carrying amount is greater than its estimated recoverable amount. Gains and losses on disposals are determined by comparing the proceeds with the carrying amount and are recognized within the statement of income.

2.11 Intangible Assets

A) Goodwill

Goodwill represents the excess of the cost of an acquisition over the fair value of the group's share of the net identifiable assets of the acquired subsidiary at the date of acquisition. Goodwill on acquisitions of subsidiaries is included in intangible assets. Gains and losses on the disposal of an entity include the carrying amount of goodwill relating to the entity sold.

Goodwill is not amortized as the carrying amount of accumulated goodwill amortization presented shall be adjusted against the original cost of goodwill. Goodwill is tested annually for impairment and carried at cost less accumulated impairment losses. Goodwill is tested for impairment annually or more frequently if there is any indication that it may be impaired. Goodwill is tested for impairment by comparing the carrying amount of the cash-generating unit with the recoverable amount, which is the higher of its fair value less costs to sell and its value in use. An impairment loss is immediately recognized and is not subsequently reversed.

B) Capitalized development costs

The Company capitalizes certain development costs when outcome of development plan is for practical enhancement, probability of technical and commercial achievement for the development plans are high, and the necessary cost is reliably estimable. Capitalized costs, comprising direct labor and related overhead, are amortized by straight-line method over their useful lives. In presentation, accumulated amortization amount and accumulated impairment amount are deducted from capitalized costs associated with development activities.

C) Other intangible assets

Certain membership dues is regarded as having an indefinite useful life because there is no foreseeable limit to the period over which the asset is expected to generate net cash inflows for the entity; such assets are not amortized.

Trademarks and licenses, which are separately acquired, are presented at historical cost. Trademarks and licenses which are acquired in business combinations are recorded at the fair value at the acquisition date. They have definite useful lives and are measured at cost less any accumulated amortization and amortized on a straight-line basis over their 5 or 10 year estimated useful lives.

The contractual customer relationships were acquired in a business combination, and are recognized at fair value at the acquisition date. The contractual relationships have a definite useful life and are recorded at cost less any accumulated amortization and amortized on a straight-line basis over the estimated period of the customer relationship.

Software is capitalized and amortized using the straight-line method over their useful lives, generally 5 to 10 years. Where an indication of impairment exists, the carrying amount of any intangible asset is assessed and written down its recoverable amount.

2.12 Impairment of Non-financial Assets

Assets that have an indefinite useful life, for example goodwill, are not subject to amortization and are tested annually for impairment. Assets that are subject to amortization are reviewed for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount may not be recoverable. An impairment loss is recognized for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs to sell and value in use. For the purposes of assessing impairment, assets are grouped at the lowest levels for which there are separately identifiable cash flows (cash-generating units). Non-financial assets other than goodwill that suffered impairment are reviewed for possible reversal of the impairment at each reporting date.

2.13 Financial Liabilities

A) Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities are acquired or incurred principally for the purpose of selling or repurchasing in the near term. Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss of the Company consist of financial instruments which contain non-derivative financial assets or embedded derivatives.

B) Financial liabilities measured at amortized cost

Unless financial liabilities arise when transfer of financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss do not qualify for derecognition, all non-derivative financial liabilities are classified as financial liabilities measured at amortized cost. If a transfer does not result in derecognition, the Company continues to recognize the transferred asset and recognize a financial liabilities for the consideration received. Financial liabilities measured at amortized cost, due within twelve months after the balance sheet date, are classified as current liabilities. Otherwise, they are classified as long-term liabilities.

2.14 Borrowings

Borrowings are recognized initially at fair value, net of transaction costs. Borrowings are subsequently measured at amortized cost; any difference between cost and the redemption value is recognized in the statement of income over the period of the borrowings using the effective interest method. If the Company has an indefinite right to defer payment for a period longer than 12 months after the end of the reporting date, such liabilities are recorded as non-current liabilities. Otherwise, they are recorded as current liabilities.

2.15 Employee Benefits

The Company has either defined benefit or defined contribution plans at respective company level. A defined contribution plan is a pension plan under which the Company pays fixed contributions into a separate entity. The Company has no legal or constructive obligations to pay further contributions if the fund does not hold sufficient assets to pay all employees the benefits relating to employee service in the current and prior periods. A defined benefit plan is a pension plan that is not a defined contribution plan. Typically defined benefit plans define an amount of pension benefit that an employee will receive on retirement, usually dependent on one or more factors such as age, years of service and compensation.

The liabilities recognized in the statement financial position in respect of defined benefit pension plans is the present value of the defined benefit obligation at the end of the reporting period less the fair value of plan assets, together with adjustments for unrecognized past-service costs. The defined benefit obligation is calculated annually by independent actuaries using the projected unit credit method. The present value of the defined benefit obligation is determined by discounting the estimated future cash outflows using interest rates of high-quality corporate bonds that are denominated in the currency in which the benefits will be paid, and that have terms to maturity approximating to the terms of the related pension liability.

Actuarial gains and losses are recognized using the corridor approach. The company recognizes actuarial gains and losses in excess of a de minimis over the remaining working lives of employees. The de minimis amount, which is also referred to as the 'corridor limit', is the greater of ten per cent of the present value of the defined benefit obligation at the end of the previous reporting period (before deducting plan assets) and ten per cent of the fair value of any plan assets at that date.

For defined contribution plans, the Company pays contributions on a mandatory, contractual or voluntary basis. The Company has no further payment obligations once the contributions have been paid. The contributions are recognized as employee benefit expense when they are due. Prepaid contributions are recognized as an asset to the extent that a cash refund or a reduction in the future payments is available.

2.16 Financial Guarantee Contract

Financial guarantee contracts are contracts that require the issuer to make specified payments to reimburse the holder for a loss it incurs because a specified debtor fails to make payments when due. Financial guarantees are initially recognized in the financial statements at fair value on the date the guarantee was given. If the amount measured in subsequent periods exceeds the unamortized balance of the amount initially recognized, the excess should be classified as other financial liability.

2.17 Provisions

Where there are a number of similar obligations, the likelihood that an outflow will be required in settlement is determined by considering the class of obligations as a whole. A provision is recognized even if the likelihood of an outflow with respect to any one item included in the same class of obligations may be small.

Provisions are measured at the present value of the expenditures expected to be required to settle the obligation using a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the obligation. The increase in the provision due to passage of time is recognized as interest expense.

When there is a probability that an outflow of economic benefits will occur due to a present obligation resulting from a past event, and whose amount is reasonably estimable, a corresponding amount of provision is recognized in the financial statements. However, when such outflow is dependent upon a future event, is not certain to occur, or cannot be reliably estimated, a disclosure regarding the contingent liability is made in the notes to the financial statements.

2.18 Leases

The Company leases certain property, plant and equipment. Lease of property, plant and equipment where the Company has substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership are classified as finance leases. Finance leases are capitalized at the lease's commencement at the lower of the fair value of the leased property and the present value of the minimum lease payments. Each lease payment is allocated between the liability and finance charges so as to achieve a constant rate on the outstanding balance. The corresponding rental obligations, net of finance charges, are included in other long-term payables. The interest element of the finance cost is charged to the statement of income over the lease period so as to produce a constant periodic rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability for each period. The property, plant and equipment acquired under finance leases is depreciated over the shorter of the useful life of the asset and the lease term.

Leases in which a significant portion of the risks and rewards of ownership are retained by the lessor are classified as operating leases. Payments made under operating leases (net of any incentives received from the lessor) are charged to the statement of income on a straight-line basis over the period of the lease.

2.19 Derivative Instruments

All derivative instruments are accounted for at fair value with the resulting valuation gain or loss recorded as an asset or liability. If the derivative instrument is not designated as a hedging instrument, the gain or loss is recognized in the statement of income in the period of change.

Fair value hedge accounting is applied to a derivative instrument with the purpose of hedging the exposure to changes in the fair value of an asset or a liability or a firm commitment (hedged item) that is attributable to a particular risk. Hedge accounting is applied when the derivative instrument is designated as a hedging instrument and the hedge accounting criteria have been met. The gain or loss, both on the hedging derivative instrument and on the hedged item attributable to the hedged risk, is reflected in the statement of income.

2.20 Dividend Distribution

Dividend distribution to SEC's shareholders is recognized as a liability in the Company's financial statements in the period in which the dividends are declared and approved.

2.21 Share-based Compensation

The Company uses the fair-value method in determining compensation costs of stock options granted to its employees and directors. The compensation cost is estimated using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model and is accrued and charged to expense over the vesting period, with a corresponding increase in a separate component of equity.

2.22 Revenue Recognition

Revenue comprises the fair value of the consideration received or receivable for the sale of goods and services in the ordinary course of the Company's activities. Revenue is shown net of value-added tax, returns, rebates and discounts and after eliminating sales within the Company.

The Company recognizes revenue when specific recognition criteria have been met for each of the Company's activities as described below. The Company bases its estimates on historical results, taking into consideration the type of customer, the type of transaction and the specifics of each arrangement.

Where multiple-element arrangements exist, the fair values of each element are determined based on the current market price of each of the elements when sold separately. When the fair values of each element are indeterminable, the fair values of deliverables which have already been provided are calculated in such way that the fair values of elements, which are yet to be provided, are subtracted from total contract value of the arrangement.

A) Sales of goods

Sales of products and merchandise are recognized upon delivery when the significant risks and rewards of ownership of goods have transferred to the buyer, continuing managerial involvement usually associated with ownership and effective control have ceased, the amount of revenue can be measured reliably, it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company and the costs incurred or to be incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliably. The Company records reductions to revenue for special pricing arrangements, price protection and other volume based discounts. If product sales are subject to customer acceptance, revenue is not recognized until customer acceptance occurs.

B) Sales of services

Revenues from rendering services are generally recognized using the percentage-of-completion method, based on the percentage of costs to date compared to the total estimated costs, contractual milestones or performance.

C) Other sources of revenue

Interest income is recognized using the effective interest method. When a loan and receivable is impaired, the Company reduces the carrying amount to its recoverable amount, being the estimated future cash flow discounted at the original effective interest rate of the instrument, and continues unwinding the discount as interest income. Royalty income is recognized on an accruals basis in accordance with the substance of the relevant agreements. Dividend income is recognized when the right to receive payment is established.

2.23 Government Grants

Grants from the government are recognized at their fair value where there is a reasonable assurance that the grant will be received and the Company will comply with the conditions attached. Government grants relating to income are deferred and recognized in the statement of income over the period necessary to match them with the income that they are intended to compensate. Government grants relating to property, plant and equipment are included in non-current liabilities as deferred government grants and are credited to the statement of income on a straight-line basis over the expected lives of the related assets.

2.24 Income Tax Expense and Deferred Taxes

The tax expense for the period comprises current and deferred tax. Tax is recognized in the statement of income, except to the extent that it relates to items recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity. In this case the tax is also recognized in other comprehensive income or directly in equity, respectively.

The current income tax charge is calculated on the basis of the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date in the countries where the company's subsidiaries and associates operate and generate taxable income.

Deferred income tax is recognized, using the liability method, on temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the consolidated financial statements. However, the deferred income tax is not accounted for if it arises from initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction other than a business combination that at the time of the transaction affects neither accounting nor taxable profit or loss. Deferred income tax is determined using tax rates (and laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date and are expected to apply when the related deferred income tax asset is realized or the deferred income tax liability is settled.

Deferred income tax assets are recognized only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilized.

Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are offset when there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax assets against current tax liabilities and when the deferred income taxes assets and liabilities relate to income taxes levied by the same taxation authority on either the taxable entity or different taxable entities where there is an intention to settle the balances on a net basis.

2.25 Earnings Per Share

Basic earnings per share is calculated by dividing net profit for the period available to common shareholders by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding during the year. Diluted earnings per share is calculated using the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding adjusted to include the potentially dilutive effect of common equivalent shares outstanding.

2.26 Segment Reporting

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision-maker. The chief operating decision-maker is responsible for making strategic decisions on resource allocation and performance assessment of the operating segments.

2.27 Convenience Translation into United States Dollar Amounts

The Company operates primarily in Korean Won and its official accounting records are maintained in Korean Won. The U.S. dollar amounts provided in the financial statements represent supplementary information solely for the convenience of the reader. All Won amounts are expressed in U.S. dollars at the rate of ₩1,153.30 to US $1, the exchange rate in effect on December 31, 2011. Such presentation is not in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and should not be construed as a representation that the Won amounts shown could be readily converted, realized or settled in U.S. dollars at this or at any other rate.

2.28 These Consolidated Financial Statements Were Approved by The Board of Directors on January 27, 2012.

3. Critical Estimates and Judgments

The preparation of consolidated financial statements requires management to exercise significant judgment and assumptions based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that are believed to be reasonable under the circumstances.

The Company makes estimates and assumptions concerning the future. The resulting accounting estimates will, by definition, seldom equal the related actual results. The estimates and assumptions that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year are addressed below.

A) Revenue recognition

The Company uses the percentage-of-completion method in accounting for its fixed-price contracts to deliver installation services. Use of the percentage-of-completion method requires the company to estimate the services performed to date as a proportion of the total services to be performed. Revenues and earnings are subject to significant change, effected by early steps in a long-term projects, change in scope of a project, cost, period, and plans of the customers.

B) Provision for warranty

The Company recognizes provision for warranty at the point of recording related revenue. The company accrues provision for warranty based on the best estimate of amounts necessary to settle future and existing claims on products sold as of each balance sheet date. Continuous release of products, that are more technologically complex and changes in local regulations and customs could result in additional allowances being required in future periods.

C) Fair value of derivatives and other financial instruments

The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market is determined by using valuation techniques. The Company uses its judgement to select a variety of methods and make assumptions that are mainly based on market conditions existing at the end of each reporting period.

D) Pension benefits

The present value of the pension obligations depends on a number of factors that are determined on an actuarial basis using a number of assumptions. The assumptions used in determining the net cost (income) for pensions include the discount rate. Any changes in these assumptions will impact the carrying amount of pension obligations. The Company determines the appropriate discount rate at the end of each year. This is the interest rate that should be used to determine the present value of estimated future cash outflows expected to be required to settle the pension obligations. In determining the appropriate discount rate, the Company considers the interest rates of high-quality corporate bonds that are denominated in the currency in which the benefits will be paid and that have terms to maturity approximating the terms of the related pension obligation.

E) Estimated impairment of goodwill

The Company tests at the end of each reporting period whether goodwill has suffered any impairment in accordance with the accounting policy described in Note 2.11. The recoverable amounts of cash generating units have been determined based on value-in-use calculations. These calculations require the use of estimates.

F) Legal contingencies

Legal proceedings covering a wide range of matters are pending or threatened in various jurisdictions against the Company. Provisions are recorded for pending litigation when it is determined that an unfavorable outcome is probable and the amount of loss can be reasonably estimated. Due to the inherent uncertain nature of litigation, the ultimate outcome or actual cost of settlement may materially vary from estimates.

Total liabilities	₩ -	₩ 24,638	₩ -	₩ 24,638

The levels of the fair value hierarchy and its application to financial assets and liabilities are described below

- Level 1 : Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities
- Level 2 : Inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly
- Level 3 : Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (that is, unobservable inputs)

The fair value of financial instruments traded in active markets is based on quoted market prices at the balance sheet date. A market is regarded as active if quoted prices are readily and regularly available from an exchange, dealer, broker, industry group, pricing service, or regulatory agency, and those prices represent actual and regularly occurring market transactions on an arm's length basis. The quoted market price used for financial assets held by the group is the current bid price. These instruments are included in level 1. Instruments included in level 1 comprise primarily listed equity investments classified as trading securities or available-for-sale.

The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market (for example, over-the-counter derivatives) is determined by using valuation techniques. These valuation techniques maximize the use of observable market data where it is available and rely as little as possible on entity specific estimates. If all significant inputs required to fair value an instrument are observable, the instrument is included in level 2.

If one or more of the significant inputs is not based on observable market data, the instrument is included in level 3.

Specific valuation techniques used to value financial instruments include :

- Quoted market prices or dealer quotes for similar instruments.
- The fair value of forward foreign exchange contracts is determined using forward exchange rates at the balance sheet date, with the resulting value discounted back to present value.
- Other techniques, such as discounted cash flow analysis, are used to determine fair value for the remaining financial instruments. As for trade and other receivables, the book value approximates a reasonable estimate of fair value.

B) Goodwill

Goodwill is allocated to Cash-Generating Units at the end of the reporting period, and consists of the following :

(In millions of Korean Won)

	2011	2010
Samsung Digital Imaging	₩ 287,199	₩ 470,344
Samsung Mobile Display	80,299	80,299
Samsung Medison	74,347	-
Grandis	39,883	-
Others	41,681	20,769
Total	₩ 523,409	₩ 571,412

Goodwill impairment reviews are undertaken annually. Impairment test suggests that, except for Samsung Digital Imaging, the carrying value of cash generating units does not exceed the recoverable amount. The recoverable amounts of cash-generating units have been determined based on value-in-use calculations. These calculations use pre-tax cash flow projections based on financial budgets approved by management covering a five-year period. Cash flows beyond the five-year period are extrapolated using the estimated growth rates stated below. The growth rate does not exceed the long-term average growth rate for the business in which Samsung Digital Imaging operates. In addition, a constant growth rate assumption is used for perpetual cash flow calculation. The key assumptions used for value-in-use calculations in 2011 and 2010, are as follows :

	2011	2010
Growth rate ¹	2.1	2.5
Pre-tax discount rate ²	13.6	15.2

¹ Growth rate is consistent with the projected growth rate over five years in the industry reports.

² Pre-tax discount rate applied to the cash flow projections.

The carrying value of Samsung Digital Imaging exceeded the value in use by ₩ 183,145 million in 2011 and ₩ 153,940 million in 2010 and the amount exceeded carrying value is recognized as the other gains / losses- net in the consolidated income statements.

C) Litigation

(1) Civil class actions with respect to fixed pricing on the sales of TFT-LCD were filed against the Company and its subsidiaries in the United States. As of balance sheet date, the outcome of the investigation and civil actions cannot be reasonably determined.

(2) Based on the agreement entered on August 24, 1999 with respect to Samsung Motor Inc.'s ("SMI") bankruptcy proceedings, Samsung Motor Inc.'s creditors ("the Creditors") filed a civil action against Mr. Kun Hee Lee, former chairman of the Company, and 28 Samsung Group affiliates including the Company under joint and several liability for failing to comply with such agreement. Under the suit, the Creditors have sought ₩ 2,450 billion (approximately $1.95 billion) for loss of principal on loans extended to SMI, a separate amount for breach of the agreement, and an amount for default interest.

SLI completed its Initial Public Offering ("IPO") on May 7, 2010. After disposing 2,277,787 shares and paying the principal balance owed to the Creditors, ₩ 878 billion (approximately $ 0.80 billion) was deposited in to an escrow account. That remaining balance was to be used to pay the Creditors interest due to the delay in the SLI IPO. On January 11, 2011, the Seoul High Court ordered Samsung Group affiliates to pay ₩ 600 billion (approximately $ 0.53 billion) to the Creditors and pay 5% annual interest for the period between May 8, 2010 and January 11, 2011, and pay 20% annual interest for the period after January 11, 2011 until the amounts owed to the Creditors are paid. In accordance with the Seoul High Court order, ₩ 620.4 billion (which includes penalties and interest owed) was paid to the Creditors from the funds held in escrow during January 2011. On February 7, 2011, the Samsung Group affiliates and the Creditors appealed the Seoul High Court' ruling to the Korean Supreme Court and the appeal is currently in progress. The amount of loss related to this matter cannot be reasonably determined. Accordingly, the Company has concluded that no provision for loss should be reflected in the Company's consolidated financial statements at December 31, 2011.

(3) As of December 31, 2011, in addition to the cases mentioned above, the Company's domestic and foreign subsidiaries have been involved in various claims and proceedings with Apple and other companies during the normal course of business, the amount and timing of these matters cannot be reasonably determined. The Company's management believes that, although the amount and timing of these matters cannot be reasonably determined, the conclusion of these matters will not have a material adverse effect on the financial position of the Company.

(4) As of December 31, 2011, the company has trade financing agreement, trade notes receivable discounting facilities, loan facilities with accounts receivable pledged as collaterals with Woori Bank and 5 other financial institutions with a combined limit of up to ₩ 7,414,400 million. 30. Financial Risk Management

Financial risk factors

The Company is exposed to credit risk, liquidity risk and market risk. Market risk arises from currency risk, interest rate risk and fair value risk associated with investments. The Company has a risk management program in place to monitor and actively manage such risks.

Also, financial risk management officers are dispatched to the regional head quarters of each area including United States of America, England, Singapore, China, Japan, and Brazil to run and operate a local financial center for global financial risk management.

The Company's financial assets that are under financial risk management are composed of cash and cash equivalents, short-term financial instruments, available-for-sale financial assets, trade and other receivables and other financial assets. The Company's financial liabilities under financial risk management are composed of trade and other payables, borrowings and debentures and other financial liabilities.

A) Market risk

(1) Foreign exchange risk

The Company is exposed to foreign exchange risk arising from various currency exposures, primarily with respect to the United States of America, European Union, Japan, other Asian countries and South America. Revenues and expenses arise from foreign currency transactions and exchange positions, and the most widely used currencies are the US Dollar, EU's EURO, Japanese Yen and Chinese Yuan. Foreign exchange risk management of the Company is carried out by both SEC and its subsidiaries. To minimize foreign exchange risk arising from operating activities, the Company's foreign exchange management policy requires all normal business transactions to be in local currency, or cash- in currency be matched up with cash-out currency. The Company's foreign risk management policy also defines foreign exchange risk, measuring period, controlling responsibilities, management procedures, hedging period and hedge ratio very specifically.

The Company limits all speculative foreign exchange transactions and operates a system to manage receivables and payables denominated in foreign currency. It evaluates, manages and reports foreign currency exposures to receivables and payables.

The Company's investment portfolio consists of direct and indirect investments in listed and non-listed securities. The market values for the Company's equity investments for the year-ended December 31, 2011 and 2010 are ₩ 3,149,926 million and ₩ 2,990,441 million respectively. Refer to Note 7.

If there is change in price of equity investment by 1%, the amount of other comprehensive income changes for the year-ended December 31, 2011 and 2010 are ₩ 25,262 million and ₩ 26,641 million, respectively.

(3) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is defined as the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The Company is exposed to interest rate risk mainly arising through interest bearing liabilities and assets. The Company's position with regard to interest rate risk exposure is mainly driven by its debt obligations such as bonds, interest-bearing deposits and issuance of receivables. In order to avoid interest rate risk, the Company maintains minimum external borrowing by facilitating cash pooling systems on a regional and global basis. The Company manages exposed interest rate risk via periodic monitoring and handles risk factors on a timely basis.

As at the reporting date, the interest rate profile of the Company's interest bearing assets and liabilities is presented in the table below :

(In millions of Korean Won)

	2011		2010
	Fixed rate	Floating rate	Fixed rate	Floating rate
Financial assets	₩ 53,626,861	₩ 2,838,767	₩ 48,532,894	₩ -
Financial liabilities	41,129,584	880,702	30,742,720	4,969,320
	₩ 12,497,277	₩ 1,958,065	₩ 17,790,174	₩ (4,969,320)

The sensitivity risk of the Company is determined based the following assumptions :

- When financial instruments are evaluated changes to profit and net equity as a result of changes in market interest rates which impact interest income (expense) to financial instruments are evaluated using floating interest rates

Based on the above assumption, changes to profit and net equity as a result of 1% increases in interest rate on borrowings in foreign currency are presented below.

B) Credit risk

Credit risk arises during the normal course of transactions and investing activities, where clients or other party fails to discharge an obligation. The Company monitors and sets the counterparty's credit limit on a periodic basis based on the counterparty's financial conditions, default history and other important factors.

Credit risk arises from cash and cash equivalents, savings and derivative instruments transactions with financial institutions. To minimize such risk, the Company transacts only with banks which have strong international credit rating (S&P A above), and all new transactions with financial institutions with no prior transaction history are approved, managed and monitored by the Company's finance team and the local financial center. The Company requires separate approval procedure for contracts with restrictions.

The top five customers account for approximately occupies 12.9% and 14.3% and ₩ 2,831,801 million and ₩ 2,734,014 million for the year ended 2011 and 2010, respectively, while the top three credit exposures by country amounted to 16.0%, 14.7% and 10.4% (December 31, 2010 : 15.6%, 12.0% and 11.0%), respectively.

C) Liquidity risk

The Company manages its liquidity risk to maintain adequate net working capital by constantly managing projected cash flows. Beyond effective working capital and cash management, the Company mitigates liquidity risk by contracting with financial institutions with respect to bank overdrafts, Cash Pooling or Banking Facility agreement for efficient management of funds. Cash Pooling program allows sharing of funds among subsidiaries to minimize liquidity risk and reduce financial expense.

The following table below is an undiscounted cash flow analysis for financial liabilities that are presented on the balance sheet according to their remaining contractual maturity.
