E13. MDM SOFTWARE SUPPORT

E13.1 In order for Samsung to provide the Services, the Customer must provide any required authorisations (for example, authorisation letters or non-disclosure terms) to Samsung and the Customer's MDM software provider of choice so that Samsung can contact the MDM Software provider on the Customer's behalf.

E13.2 The Customer will also need to share certain information with the MDM provider, including device logs for the purposes of providing the Services. Once the Customer and the MDM provider have confirmed that Samsung can initiate these requests, a copy of the support terms and the authorisations needs to be provided to Samsung. Once the authorisations are in place and support terms have been received, Samsung will use commercially reasonable efforts to resolve the support requests with MDM Software providers in accordance with the terms of any agreed Service Description. If a problem arises with the MDM software and Samsung is unable to resolve the issue, Samsung will contact the MDM software provider and create a "problem incident" or "trouble ticket" on the Customer's behalf. Samsung will follow the process set forth in the Customer support terms and will monitor the problem resolution process on the Customer's behalf until the MDM Software provider has provided a resolution, steps towards a resolution, workaround, configuration changes, or escalation of a bug report in accordance with the Customer support terms.

E13.3 The process set out at E13.1 and E13.2 above does not include support of the application itself or the deployment of the application in the Customer's environment.

Samsung may require a licensed copy of the application to be provided. If the enterprise application integrates into Customer back-end systems, then access to those systems may also be required for effective root cause analysis and issue resolution.
