

BUSINESS CONDUCT GUIDELINES 2016

In 2005, Samsung Electronics introduced the 'Global Code of Conduct' as a reference guide to our approach to accountable and responsible business practices. Over the years, expectations from various entities - including NGOs, governments, customers, shareholders, suppliers and employees - have grown along with our responsibility as a global corporate citizen. In this spirit, Samsung Electronics has updated and revised the 'Business Conduct Guidelines' that provide a specific direction for sustainable management, published for the first time in last year's Sustainability Report.

Preface

1. Our Commitments and Policies

We at Samsung Electronics (“Samsung”) strive to drive positive change and contribute to a better world through our innovative products and services. Our core values, [people, excellence, change, integrity and co-prosperity] demonstrate our dedication toward a brighter future for mankind, and are at the heart of every decision we make. Samsung ‘Global Code of Conduct’ is founded on five ‘Samsung Business Principles’ and ensure that we are holding ourselves to the highest standards in complying with laws and ethics.

Samsung Business Principles	1. We comply with laws and ethical standards	3. We respect customers, shareholders and employees
	2. We maintain a clean organizational culture	4. We care about the environment, health and safety
		5. We are a socially responsible corporate citizen

All of us, as Samsung employees, are responsible for maintaining high ethical standards and conducting business with integrity. Samsung’s employees are ambassadors of our brand and in everything we do, we uphold Samsung’s standards of corporate social responsibility, integrity and accountability. These ‘Business Conduct Guidelines’ were written based on our ‘Global Code of Conduct’ for this very purpose: to help guide the employees at Samsung in making sound decisions.

Samsung respects and protects the fundamental human rights taking into account international human rights principles and standards set forth in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights, the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development’s guidelines for multinational enterprises, the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Principles and Rights at Work, and the laws of the countries in which we operate.

Samsung is a member of the Electronic Industry Citizenship Coalition (EICC) and we conform to the EICC Code of Conduct and its implementation methods across the company and our suppliers. The EICC Code draws upon internationally recognized standards, in order to advance social and environmental responsibility and business ethics.

2. Managing Risks

- The societal and environmental challenges our world is facing bring about an uncertain business environment and the risks in our business often pertain to consequences in business performance or corporate reputation as well. Samsung approaches these risks in an effort to effectively minimize any harm to our employees and the environment, and to our global business. Samsung assesses the various factors that may become a risk to the company in an uncertain business environment and establishes countermeasures to manage risks effectively.
- In the course of business activities at Samsung, there will inevitably be risks that arise from the ever-changing global society. All employees should be prepared to face such risks swiftly and appropriately, according to their roles and responsibilities.
- It is an employee’s right and responsibility to be well-informed, using guidance from the ‘Global Code of Conduct’ and ‘Business Conduct Guidelines’. Samsung relies on the employees’ collective effort to prevent and minimize corporate risks.

3. Scope of the Guidelines

- The guidelines apply to all employees at Samsung. Employees whose job description entails purchasing, taxation, marketing, sales and environment-related activities are also expected to work in compliance with additional policies applicable to their job.
- For suppliers of Samsung, we strongly advise that they consider and implement the contents of the ‘Business Conduct Guidelines’ applicable to their business management, while enforcing the mandatory ‘Samsung Suppliers’ Code of Conduct.’

4. Using the Guidelines

- Samsung expects all employees to make the right decisions based on sufficient information.
- When making business decisions for Samsung, all employees are expected to conduct a self-diagnosis via the 'Business conduct Guidelines' to review whether the problems and outcomes involved in the decision have been adequately considered.

Employees may call, send a fax or submit an online report on the Ethical Management website. The website is accessible in 14 languages across 67 different websites, and reports are handled discreetly.
- If and when an employee detects instances of non-compliance, or possible non-compliance of 'Business Conduct Guidelines' the employee is responsible for reporting his or her respective concerns to the 'Reporting Wrongful Practices' tab on the Ethical Management website, the audit team (audit.sec@samsung.com), the tip-off section within the compliance support system, or the compliance team (cp.wb.sec@samsung.com). If an employee becomes subject to illegal, immoral and/or prohibited actions, the employee is required to report the situation.
- We want our employees to feel reassured in communicating with us openly and honestly, without the threat of consequences. Samsung does not, under any circumstance, tolerate retaliation against any employee who makes a good faith report and/or refuses to partake in acts in violation of these guidelines.
